THE PRIVILEGE OF READING THE BALI TIMES.

The Bali Times is Bali's only English-language newspaper, launched in 2005. Published every Friday, it gives its readership of foreign expatriates living in Bali, professional Indonesians and foreign tourists from around the world a glimpse into Bali life, both from a news and feature perspective.

The Bali Times also publishes comprehensive reports on global events happening during the week, as well as carrying national news and innovative pages on the internet, travel, science, sport, health, humor and the best in opinion and editorial.

The Bali Times is operated by professional journalists and carries material from prestigious media partners Agence France-Presse, the world's oldest global news agency, and the Los Angeles Times-Washington Post News Service.

Columnists include world-famous Brazilian spiritual writer and bestselling author Paulo Coelho; India's revered guru Sri Sri Ravi Shankar; the founder of the global anti-aging movement Dr. Robert Goldman; England's top astrologist Jonathan Cainer; and a wealth of local talent. Balinese cartoonists and content from the Australian Broadcasting Corporation complete the content.

The Bali Times is unrivaled in its presence in Bali, and can carry advertisers' messages far further than any other publication on the island.

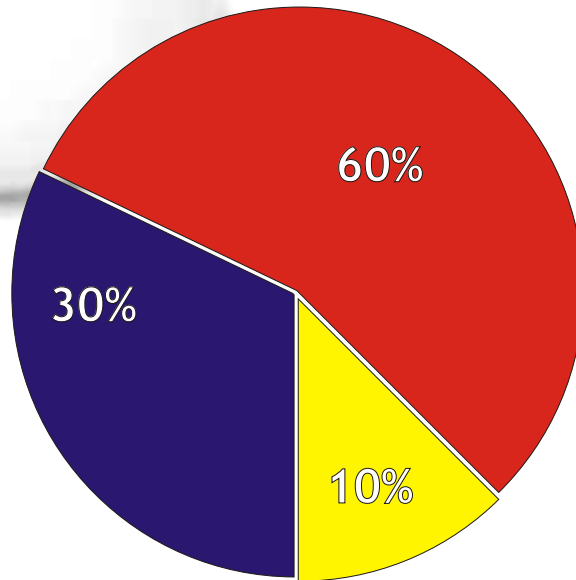

Distribution of 23,000 copies weekly is carried out via The Bali Times' in-house distribution team, leading Indonesian publication Distributors and aboard Major airlines serving Bali.
